Junior Prom to Feature Coast to Coast Broadcast On 58 N. B. C. Stations

First Time Any College Affair Has Gone Over Red and Blue Network

BARNEE WILL PLAY FOR MAY 13 DANCE

Seven Women Eligible for First Lady Contest; Invitations Available Now

At what will be the first college prom to be broadcast over a coast to coast network of 58 National Broadcasting Company stations, Barnee and his 16-piece Hotel Shoreham orchestra will play at The George Washington University Junior Prom, from 10 p. m. until 2 a. m., Saturday, May 13, according to Floyd Sparks, prom chairman.

The final closing of petitioning for eligibility in the First Lady of the University contest, saw the following women declared eligible by the First Lady committee:

Harriet Atwell, Julia Fick, Grace Giffen, Margaret Gilligan, Virginia Hawkins, Margaret Liebler, and Platon Pappas.

Barnee First on Network

The winner of the contest will be announced at midnight, at the Junior Prom, when Provost William Allen Wilbur officially crowns her and the two maids of honor.

Barnee's orchestra, which is a Maxim Lowe Unit, is the first local musical aggregation to receive a contract to play over a national broadcasting hook up. The jovial leader, who is a former student of George Washington, will include in his repertoire a group of George Washington University songs. The broadcast proper will take place from 11:30 until 12 p. m.

The Prom will have an intermission at midnight, at which time Barnee and his boys will entertain with a floor show, presenting Shoreham talent.

O. D. K. Favors New Student Council Plan

Resolution Backs Proposed Change to Basis of Campus Activities

"BE IT RESOLVED, That the Alpha Delta Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa go on record as favoring reorganization of the student government at The George Washington University on a basis of activities." This resolution was adopted at a meeting of Omicron Delta Kappa held in The Hatchet office Sunday afternoon.

Arrangements were also discussed at this time for the tap service to be held in conjunction with Class Night ceremonies during convocation week.

Plans were made at the Sunday meeting for the Omicron Delta Kappa-Faculty baseball game to be held as part of the program of the "Dean" Wilbur Field Day at the Sixteenth and Kennedy street section of Rock Creek Park, May 13.

Other projects discussed by the honorary group included an organized scheme of freshman education, the sponsorship of programs between the halves of football games, procuring a scoreboard for the gymnasium, and an attempt to get athletic certificates approved by the athletic department.

Speakers' Congress Argues Prohibition

Is the student body wet or dry? This question will be argued by President Roosevelt, Mrs. Sabin, Al Smith, Bishop Cannon and other national figures (in effect) at 8 o'clock, May 3, when the mock convention sponsored by the Speakers' Congress in Corcoran 10 swings into action to decide the student views on repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The cast in this two-act comedy on prohibition is: President Roosevelt, Edward Northrop; Al Smith, Gilbert Linville; Mrs. Sabin, Elizabeth Sherrier; Charlie Curtis, Arthur Murphy; Vice President Garner, Grant Van Demark; Bishop Cannon, Dewitt Bennett; Will Rogers, Douglas Heslop; an itinerant preacher from Vermont, Dave Betts.

It is rumored that the wet faction will garner support through the medium of refreshments. The meeting is open to all.

Your Own Lunch Idea, Doughnut Contest, at Rock Creek Park Festival

EXPECT 3,000 PEOPLE AT DEAN WILBUR DAY

Guest of Honor Will Throw First Ball at O. D. K. Faculty Game

"Approximately 3,000 people are expected to attend 'Dean' Wilbur Day, which will be held at the Sixteenth and Kennedy street section of Rock Creek Park, Saturday afternoon, May 13," said John Everett, chairman of the "Dean" Wilbur Day committee. "Plans have been made to have Provost Wilbur throw the first ball in the O. D. K. Faculty baseball game; there will be an interfraternity marble contest; interfraternity doughnut-eating contest; tugs of war, and what not.

The big note of attraction, incidentally, is the 'bring your own lunch (and girl)' idea," smiled the chairman. "Arrangements have been made to provide tables and benches so that large groups can assemble here and there, beneath the shady trees, to eat home-made lunches, and drink the beer, coffee, or lemonade," he added.

Aside from the baseball, tennis, and women's sports matches, the big attraction of the day will be the humorous doughnut-eating contest to be held between representatives of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, and Zeta Tau Alpha. The Pi Beta Phi informed us, as we went to press, that Betty Shipp,

Formal Reception Planned by Drama Cast at Wardman

Social Festivity Will Follow Pre-showing of "The Romantic Young Lady"

On Monday evening, May 8, two nights before the first performance, Cue and Curtin will stage a formal dress rehearsal of "The Romantic Young Lady" and give a reception at the Wardman Park Theatre at 8 p. m. It is the first time in the history of George Washington University dramatics that such an affair has been attempted.

The list of invited guests will include members of the diplomatic corps, members of Congress, society leaders, heads of all the departments in the University, presidents of all the fraternities and fraternities, presidents of the Pan-Hellenic and Interfraternity Councils, and the editor and associate editors of The Hatchet. The dress rehearsal will be, to all outward appearances, an orthodox presentation of the play. Following the final curtain, the reception will take place in the lobby, where refreshments will be served and where the guests may view the various winning posters. Photographs of the players will be displayed on a six-foot billboard.

Cue and Curtin Broadcasts

Wednesday evening, May 10, the first night of the first performance, Cue and Curtin will broadcast a half-hour radio program, 7:30 to 8 o'clock, over WMAL. Time and facilities for this program were generously donated by Radio Joe, or D. J. Kaufman & Co. Radio Joe has given his permission to Kenneth Romney, who will act as master of ceremonies, to utilize his budget boys and the weekly guest star from the Fox Theatre in making up his script. The script will also include an act from the Troubadour show of this year and a skit by members of Cue and Curtin.

Two new technical assistants have been appointed within the past week. Tom Toner has been made sound engineer and Karl Kay, assistant stage manager.

Margaret Gilligan, who has the part of Maria Pape, the middle-aged, ludicrous maid in "The Romantic Young Lady," is being sponsored by Cue and Curtin as a candidate for the First Lady of the University.

University Band Presents Concert Today in Yard

The University Band will give its second concert of the current semester this afternoon at 4:40, in the Yard. Included will be the march, "Lorraine," the overture from "The Golden Dragon," a saxophone quartette—selected, and the "Buff and Blue." The band has also been tendered the feature spot of the week at the Fox Theatre, Sunday, May 7, at 8:40 p. m.

Reorganizationists Win Eight Seats On Student Council; 1483 Votes Cast

Cherie Seaman Most Beautiful Girl In Cherry Tree Contest

E. Pendleton Hogan Judged Most Handsome Man—Wessels, Bequette, Helvestine, and Winston Are Runners-Up; Gaynor and Colman Select Winners.

Cherie Seaman, Pi Beta Phi pledge, was selected by Ronald Colman as the most beautiful coed at the University, while E. Pendleton Hogan, member of Sigma Chi, was chosen by Janet Gaynor as the most handsome man. The selections appeared in the feature section of the Cherry Tree, which was first distributed on the campus yesterday.

Katherine Wessels and Elizabeth Bequette were chosen as runners-up in the beauty contest, while William Helvestine and William Winston were so honored in the handsome man competition.

Glee Clubs' Annual Concert And Dance Set For Tonight

Choral Program Features Solos by Nils Falkman, Concert Tenor

A program of choral music, ranging in style from classic simplicity to intricacy and brilliance, will be given by The George Washington University Glee Clubs in their annual spring concert tonight at 8:30 at the Willard Hotel. Nils Falkman, young Swedish concert tenor, will appear with the clubs as guest soloist.

This concert, the highest musical occasion of the school year, is under the sponsorship of the General Alumni Association of the University, and will be attended by a large group of alumni, faculty, students and friends, as well as many outside the University circle who are interested in choral music and in this group of college singers which has won a wide reputation through its excellence of performance, and its devotion to the best in music.

Immediately following the concert, a dance will be held at which the music will be furnished by the nationally famous orchestra of Leon Brailoff.

Tickets are one dollar each; but any student of The George Washington University may receive the reduced rate of seventy-five cents a ticket on presenting his activities book at the time of purchase. Tickets are on sale at the Burrar's Office, at the Willard Hotel, and at the door.

The men's group will sing twelve numbers, including "The Long Day Closes," by Sir Arthur Sullivan, considered one of the best arranged of male choral numbers; Gounod's "Benedictus" and the "Tenebrae Factae Sunt" of

Junior College Favorite Rhinehart Crushed by Floyd, Gay, Given Combine as Mitchell, Stevenson Spring Surprise

NO MEMBER UP FOR REELECTION WINS

285 More Votes Cast This Year Than in 1932 Balloting; Law School Splits Reorganization Vote With Hitch Favoring, Helvestine Neutral

Reorganizationists and status quo proponents stood 8 to 3 today in the Student Council following last week's general election, with three candidates being elected without committing themselves.

The total vote was 1483. Two hundred-eighty-five more students voted this year than in the election of last year in which 1198 votes were cast. In the Junior College 572 ballots were cast, the vote being more than twice that of last year, when only 274 voted.

Narrow margins separated winners from losers in all but the Junior College where the coalition of Burke Floyd, Karl Gay and Ralph Given piled up an overwhelming lead over the favored candidates, Coon and Rhinehart, and the School of Engineering, where James Johnson won an easy victory.

One vote brought victory to Mary Lee Watkins in the School of Education, where she defeated the incumbent, Edith Grosvenor, 19 to 18. Fred Stevenson defeated Margaret Liebler 20 to 16 in the School of Government in another desperate contest.

Voters in Columbian College split their support between the reorganization candidate, Joseph Danzansky, and Helen Mitchell, status quo candidate. Danzansky received 149 votes and Mitchell polled 94. Clara Critchfield stood third with 72, and Louise Linkins fourth with 67.

Robert Hitch led the Law School's five candidates, none of whom were previously committed on the reorganization issue, with a margin of 13 votes over William Helvestine. The winning candidates polled 222 votes and 209 respectively and Albert Johnson, third, tallied 188.

Catherine Cutler defeated Vernon Goodrich and Arthur Goodrich for the Fine Arts seat, 14 to 6, the losing candidates polling a tie. Mary Perrin, Library Science; George Emmart, Pharmacy, and James Dueschabeck, Medical School, were unopposed.

No consistency was evident between colleges in the attitude of the voters toward the principal issue—reorganization. In the Junior College only three of the 13 candidates opposed reorganization, and none of the three were elected.

In Columbian College, three of the four candidates were pledged to reorganization, but the voters split their ticket and elected Danzansky, reorganizationist, and Mitchell, status quo candidate. There were 191 votes cast, as compared with 84 last year.

All five of the Law School candidates took a neutral stand prior to the election, but one favored reorganization providing the Law School is given representation. The bitterness of the fight in the Law School is indicated by the way the 444 voters entered the polls. Of the total number, only half voted for Hitch or Helvestine, with Johnson and Dennis netting a third each. Here, again, the question of reorganization showed a split vote. Hitch favors reorganization with the Law School included; Helvestine is said to have showed little interest either way.

Interesting to note was the reaction taken against Council members running for reelection. In each instance, the candidate was defeated. Betty Coon and Loren Murray, of Junior College, suffered severely, while Edith Grosvenor, in Education, lost by a one-vote margin to Watkins.

This year's election brought a higher number of total votes cast, by a 285 margin, yet the total per school fluctuated. Junior College doubled its balloting, 572 as compared to last year's 274; Columbian College followed suit with 191 this year in contrast to 84 in the previous election.

Law School candidates aroused no greater interest on the face of things, showing 444 and 435 individuals at the ballot boxes in the last two elections. Emmart, in Pharmacy, gathered seven voters as compared to last year's 20. Probably the fact he ran unopposed was the reason for the sudden drop. The School of Government, too, lowered its last year's voting by the sum of 12 votes, casting only 36 at this week's election, while 48 members contributed their vote the previous spring.

The other schools showed a comparatively minor gain or loss, with the exception of the School of Engineering where the voting took a sudden rise from 28 votes in 1932 to 146 cast Thursday and Friday. This may be attributed to the spirit of competition, as Valpean Darling ran unopposed last year, whereas three candidates ran for office in this election.

Dr. Moss to Speak On Radio Thursday

Dr. Fred August Moss, professor of psychology, will give the sixth of a series of radio talks by faculty members here over WMAL, Thursday, May 4, at 7:45 p. m. His subject will be, "Auditing Your Emotional Account."

Eleven more professors and instructors will be heard, one each Thursday at the same time, before the series ends July 27. The talks last 15 minutes.

The schedule for the next month follows:

May 11, Prof. W. C. Johnstone, "The League of Nations and the Far East"; May 18, Dr. Vincent DuVigneaud, "Insulin and Diabetes"; May 25, Prof. Douglas Bement, "The Short Story and Other Literary Pains"; June 1, Prof. Charles E. Hill, "The Rise of J. Ramsey MacDonald."

Cooper Will Speak At Education Dinner

The second annual banquet of the Women's and Men's Education Clubs will be held at the Women's University Club, 1634 I street, on Saturday, May 13, at 6:30 p. m.

Dr. William J. Cooper, U. S. Commissioner of Education, will be the guest speaker. The program further includes a presentation on the order of the Gridiron skits, which will be satirical of education. Mr. Kidler will supply musical selections.

Assistant Commissioner of Education, Bess Goodykoonts, is listed among the guests for the evening. All professors in the School of Education have been invited. Reservations for the banquet may be made at Miss Ruth E. Coyer's office in Building D.

WASHINGTON, D. C., TUESDAY.

The Vote in Student Council Elections Is an Argument for Reorganization

The Hatchet offers its congratulations to the successful candidates in the recent Student Council elections.

Only about three hundred more students took part in the elections this year than voted last year. This means that interest in the Student Council is still at a very low ebb since less than fifteen hundred participated in the balloting last week. There could be no stronger argument for reorganizing the Student Council on a basis of activities than these figures.

Less than twenty-five per cent of the student body at George Washington is interested in having representation on the Student Council. These people are largely the ones who are in activities and the ones who would be represented under the proposed scheme. The Hatchet reiterates its stand that if people are interested in student government or in the form it takes at the University they will express that interest in some way. Therefore it follows that people participating in activities are the ones who are interested and the ones who should be represented in the Student Council.

A majority of the successful candidates were elected on a platform of reorganization and are reminded at this time of their pledge to effect such reorganization.

Omicron Delta Kappa and Hour Glass Endorse Reorganization of Student Council

Both Hour Glass and Omicron Delta Kappa, the two ranking honorary activities fraternities on campus, have officially gone on record as favoring reorganization of the Student Council on the basis of activities. This is good and is as it should be. Both these groups are composed of leaders. Their membership is comprised of people who have come up from the ranks and who are acquainted with and have ability to cope with the problems which from time to time present themselves for solution by students of the University.

The Hatchet feels, therefore, that indorsement of the proposed plan of complete reorganization by these two groups is a fitting climax for all the effort which has been expended in behalf of changing the type of student government at George Washington.

We Call Attention to The Christmas Holiday Question

Last December out-of-town students complained bitterly that the dates of the Christmas holidays were so arranged that it would be impossible for them to arrive home by Christmas Eve.

An adjustment was asked, but Administration officials pointed out that the calendar was drawn up far in advance, and that a last-minute change would be inconvenient.

It is well to remember now that assurance was given at that time, that when the calendar for next year was drawn up the date for the beginning of the recess would be early enough to allow Mid-Western students to be at home for Christmas Eve.

Glee Clubs' Concert-Dance Well Worth Attending

The annual concert-dance of the glee clubs—a highlight among University activities not only musically but socially—takes place at the Willard Hotel tonight.

The musical part of the evening should be highly successful, from present indications. In its previous appearances this season, the Men's Glee Club has rivaled, if not surpassed, the famous units of 1930 and 1931, which won first and fourth places, respectively, in the National Intercollegiate Glee Club contests. During the last two years the Women's Club has made remarkable progress, and now enjoys an enviable reputation of its own. In addition, the program this year is perhaps the finest, in arrangement and content, of any concert ever presented by a Washington choral organization.

The singing, together with the dancing afterward, affords a wealth of entertainment—at a more than reasonable price—which should appeal to lovers of music and social activity alike.

May We Make Certain Suggestions Regarding Council Elections?

It is gratifying to note the increase in the number of votes cast this year in the Student Council elections. Whether this increase was caused by greater student interest in campus problems, or whether it was due to the outdoor location of the ballot boxes, is problematical.

Certain features of the elections are worthy of remark. In the first place, electioneering was conducted directly at the polls. Supporters of the candidates are known to have assisted students in the marking of their ballots; and in at least one instance, a campaigner took the ballot from the unprotesting student, marked it according to his views, and placed it in the ballot box.

In municipal, county, and other Governmental elections, such campaigning may not be conducted within a certain distance of the voting booths. The Hatchet believes that some similar provision should be made for Student Council elections. The expense of curtained voting booths might not be justified, but at least some place could be set apart where students might vote uninfluenced by the opinions of others.

These matters, together with the alleged participation of election officials in the campaigning, were doubtless due to unpreparedness and thoughtlessness on the part of those concerned with the election, rather than to dishonesty. But they should be remembered and rectified in the future.

CHIPS

Well, peoples—here we are, Old Dick Rollo himself back at the old switch, with a fine political trouncing to boot, since the school didn't seem to give a hoot about ending apathy. The A. D. P.'s objected to Caminita saying "Coon tagging on to Rhinehart did a little tagging on his own account." Dear Vinnie—we believe that there should be a sorority movement from "Polls to the Hearth" since old housemaid Rollo had to give the A. D. P. rooms a spring cleaning Sunday before we could fete the retiring editor—never was there such a dirty kitchen. The coy and "innocent" Boyle might well have spent some of that vote-coercing with a broom in her hand. Wonder if Ozzie Wray has as many cuckoos in his bonnet over (Whistler) Kramer since he had to explain the second baseball game she ever attended. You will from hence on call Jerry Free Uncle Jerry due to the advent of a 7-pound girl—Jerry is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances. Seven or eight venerable professors spend the afternoons nonchalantly licking chocolate ice cream suckers in the Faculty Club Room. The next time Herzog and Hickman pick up Skinner and Spigul for lunch, Herzog will make sure Hickman doesn't leave before the bill is paid. Now for olde Pan Hellenic Prome—never was there such a prom. In spite of the fact that Seal broke her date with Bullard one week after Interfraternity, the Frosh President entered via the window route. Sickler one-eye Connalyed his 8th successive route. Molyneux had her hair parted in the middle. Talking about the Popularity Queen—since she and Sock have decided to park their socks under the same bed, I guess the handsome Stevens will have to change his attentions back to "Toots" Herman, his 7th grade flame. Among the gals, last year's styles predominated, but those having the best looking duds were Atwell, Warren, and Eller in white—you know pure, etc.—Betsy Garrett in yellow chiffon print, Helen Hughes in blue flat crepe, Virginia Jones' pink lace, Whistler Kramer in white voile, Didgee Sedgwick's black crepe, Helen Sherry's black and white pique, and Liebler in white organza—Most unic-ee, McNary and Edwards in red and white plaids—just old Paton Rollo. Chase Stevens went to Union Station to see his boy friend off and woke up in Akron, Ohio. Kindly note Adele Miriam's bangs—it's that jeune fille touch, I suppose. Ludwig Caminita, erstwhile political prophet, would appreciate a position as a plumber's apprentice.—Please inform immediately. Talking about smooching, Rollo walked in on Atwell and Sawtelle at a New Year's eve party a year ago, and now Joe returns the visit on Rollo in The Hatchet office.—My! my! but it's a small world, after all. Ain't it? As an old Prom finale, I guess we should at least mention the Petticoat, whose general tone is best displayed by this choice morsel—Eller to the ice man: "Do you have the time?" Ice man: "Yes, but will hold the horses?" My, but that was a ripper—in the 1896 Razzberry. Rollo has balled his shirt and dusted the white rabbit fur off of his tux in preparation to attend the annual larynx contest between the men's and women's glee clubs, and perhaps carry the flower basket to the platform as was his austere mission last year. Don't forget to come out and hear old radio Rollo over the Griffith Stadium amplifiers at the ball game this week. I'll bet the Sigma Chi's are swelling out their chests these days, since Pen Hogan crashed through in that most handsome man contest. Well, I gotta go and a little apathy now, see you next week. Au revoir, a little cheer, and pleasant dreams.

OLE APATHY ROLLO.

NOTES ON COLLEGIATE ACTIVITIES

Graduate Students Will Organize Social Club

Graduate students in all the schools are invited to attend a meeting in Lambie House on Thursday, May 4, at 8 p. m.

This meeting is called by the Women's Faculty Club for the purpose of discussing an organization to further social relations between students and faculty.

A. S. E. E. to Hear Talk on Railroads

"The Electrification of Railways" will be discussed by Mr. John F. Burns at a meeting of the A. S. E. E. to be held Monday, May 12, at 8:15 p. m., in K-12.

A short business session will follow the regular meeting at which time the officers for next year will be elected.

Denominational Differences Discussed by Lutherans

The Luther Club continued its series of discussion groups last evening when the Reverend Howard Snyder led the organization in a discussion of "The Churches—with Emphasis on Different Denominations."

Tracing the growth of the Lutheran

Church from its beginning during the reformation period down to the present day, the meeting on April 25 was devoted to opening the discussion on the topic which was continued last night and which will again furnish interest next Tuesday, May 9, when this particular series will be concluded.

The monthly business meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, May 16, at which time election of officers for the coming school year will be held. Meetings are held in Lambie House.

Mrs. Culbertson Speaks Of Experiences Abroad

Mrs. William S. Culbertson, wife of the ambassador to Chile, was the guest speaker at the freshman women's assembly last Wednesday.

She discussed her various experiences in Roumania, while her husband was minister to that country, and in Chile, emphasizing particularly her audience with Queen Marie, of Roumania, and entertaining President Hoover during his stay in Chile.

The speaker explained that a position in the diplomatic circle was one of prestige, and one which offered opportunities for enjoying travel, but that it was one which required a person to be "other-minded," sympathetic, and able to make the right decision at the right moment.

Attractive Annual Makes Appearance

Cherie Seaman, J. Pendleton Hogan Win Cherry Tree Beauty Contests

By ELEANOR HELLER.

"Distinctive and unusual"—a two-word impression of the 1933 Cherry Tree.

The new yearbook, which made its appearance yesterday, is so replete with unusual features as to render it "unique" in the realm of college annuals. Pictures of the most beautiful coed and the most handsome man on the campus, chosen by Janet Gaynor and Ronald Colman; a March of Events section; modernistic designing throughout, and a complete resume of organizations and activities on the campus are combined to make the 1933 book outstanding in the history of the University.

In number of pictures carried in quality of photography, in completeness of its scope, and in general organization this year's Cherry Tree surpasses all previous ones.

The University, Administration, seniors, fraternities and sororities, activities, special features, and athletics are covered in the order named. The book does not have advertisements.

The large, full-page pictures of the buildings of the University and scenes about the campus are the most striking yet seen. The famous Houdon's George Washington statue which overlooks the campus is realistically exhibited in this section of the book.

A very fine likeness of President Cloyd Heck Marvin introduces the officers of administrations and deans of the various colleges and divisions in the department of administration.

Three hundred seniors receive individual honors in one section of the book, with photographs and records of personal accomplishments in the University.

Every social fraternity and sorority and practically every honorary and professional group on the campus has representation. Organizations, such as dramatic units, the glee clubs, the church and study societies are also presented both by pictures and explanation.

Various publications of the University, as well as dramatic and debate activities for the year are reviewed in detail.

The Society section offers pictures of the leaders of the most important social functions of the year and scenes of the Interfraternity Pledge Prom, Engineers' Ball, and Interfraternity Prom, interspersed with glowing accounts of these colorful affairs.

Cherie Seaman, selected by Ronald Colman as the most beautiful co-ed attending George Washington University, is presented in a beautiful full-page portrait. Katherine Wessels and Elizabeth Bequette, second and third choices, respectively, are also given full pages.

E. Pendleton Hogan, Janet Gaynor's choice as the most handsome man in the University, and William Helvestine and William Winston, second and third selections, are given elaborate full-page pictures.

Sixty-five news pictures, taken from time to time throughout the year and covering all phases of the University's activities, along with appropriate text, present pictorially the news of the year.

Every phase of both men's and women's athletics is covered in the athletics section of the book. Action photos of important events give life and color to this division. Complete records of all teams are also given.

Every section of the book is introduced with a title-page carrying an appropriate vari-colored modernistic design descriptive of the particular section that follows.

Unusual and interesting is the brief history of the University, which is run in fifty-word items at the conclusion of each department of the book.

Cherry Tree Copies

A limited number of copies of the 1933 Cherry Tree are still available at the Publications Office, 2016 H street, at the regular price of four dollars each.

Drama Club Does Three Plays Well

Tiller, Bequette, Cox, Talley, Stand Out in Performance of Group

By CHARLES A. BELL

Three varied and well-executed one-act plays were offered by the Drama Appreciation Club in the auditorium of the Western Presbyterian Church last Tuesday evening.

Under the direction of Mrs. George Romney, and sponsored by Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, the plays received a sincerity of treatment that far overshadowed their several artistic shortcomings. The selection of plays was excellent, and made for a well-balanced program.

The first sketch, "Out of the Darkness," was a rustic drama of a woman about to leave her husband, whom she suspects of being constantly drunk. His gait is unsteady, and his hand unsteady. In a sudden climax, he reveals that he is not drunk, but nearly blind, and the wife resolves to stay with him. Eleanor Crowley, as the wife, and Harry Humphry, taking the part of the husband, performed creditably, in spite of a tendency to be a little over-dramatic. Walter Pick appeared as a young sheepherder, while Mary Cox, in the other lesser role of Bessie, the easily the most convincing and natural member of the cast.

"Will of the Wisp," a fantasy, was the next to be presented. Honors here must go to Esther Talley in the title role, who not only acted the part, but looked it. Dancing beckoningly out beyond the cliffs, the will o' the wisp leads soulless humans to destruction. One who meets such a fate is a smug, self-centered wife of a poet who visits Land's End. Jean Burford played the wife with excellent poise and assurance. Others in the cast were Blanche Widome and Frances Hand.

Theodore Tiller stole the show in the third play, and established himself without much difficulty as the most finished thespian of the evening. Taking the part of a lawyer to whom a man and his wife come separately, each seeking divorce, Tiller moved about the stage as if it were his own living room, and never faltered for a line or gesture. Elizabeth Bequette, playing the wife, came nearest to equalling his performance, getting a laugh out of nearly every line she spoke. Robert Donovan was the husband, and compensated for his inadequate enunciation by the use of spontaneous and effective facial expression. All in all, "The Passing of Chow Chow" was the best play presented, as well as the most pleasing.

Dean Longfellow, who constructed the sets, must be congratulated. Detail was as well done as general effect, and the critic looks for both. Stage properties were handled by Carrie Roper Fulton.

The Drama Appreciation Club has done good work in its maiden effort, and the reviewer, for one, expresses the hope that something of a similar nature will be essayed again next year.

N. B. C. TO BROADCAST JUNIOR PROM; FIRST PROM EVER ON AIR

Among the latter will be Bert Bagnoff, G. W. Troubadour star of a few years ago and football player of the early Pixlee vintage. Bagnoff will no doubt be remembered for his remarkable work as the lead in "Happy Landings."

Others to be included in the floor show are Mildred Cherot, popular little singer, and the local Kate Smith.

Invitations Now Available
Arthur Godfrey, well known NBC announcer, will officiate at the mike at Junior Prom broadcast. He will also act as master of ceremonies for the Shoreham troupe.

Invitations to the Junior Prom are $2, and will be available to any student in the University. Julia Fick, chairman of invitations, has placed them for distribution at the Bursar's office, Corcoran Hall, the Law School, Junior Prom office (basement of Building N), and with individuals on the campus.

Cue and Curtain Club Poster Contest Closes Monday Night

Monday night has been set by Kenneth Romney, director of Cue and Curtain publicity, as the closing date for the high school poster contest staged in conjunction with the spring production of "The Romantic Young Lady." Those schools having entered the contest include Holton Arms, Gunston Hall, Central High, Western High, National Academy of Art, and Critcher Art School.

Colonial Tennis Team In Thrilling Victory Over Pittsburgh

SPORT Saxe T

By ROBERT P. HERZOG

Howdy folks! Pinch hitting for Grantland Rice Busick. Johnny spent the week-end trying to keep Randy Robinson out of trouble while the latter led the Colonial netmen to a 6-3 triumph over the Pitt Panthers. The campus reeks of athletic heroes this week. Craig McKee, intramural golf champion for 1932, scored a 72 over the hilly Washington Golf and Country Club course as the Richmond "Jones" conquered 4 and 2. Bill Albert, Hoggy to youse guys, sallied forth in the sixth inning of the Friday night baseball party to drive a homer over the heads of the Delaware outfielders and force in two runs. Nice going, Kead. And maybe "Soapy" Fenlon didn't look good; taking four official trips to the plate he landed on the pill for four safeties, and scored five runs himself.

By the way, Johnny Fenlon and Fred Mulvey, who rate with this column as being about the two most dependable athletes in school, will be the only 3-letter-men on the campus after the diamond season ends. And that, ladies and gents, is a tip to the wise. One represents the middle-west and the other the rock-bound shores of New England; Texas and Oklahoma are still in the shadows. And speaking of middle-west the lighting equipment at the ball park is second-handed, having been imported from a more or less bankrupted ball park in Ohio. All that we want to add is that we expect a more representative crowd than 3,000 persons; it is a reflection on the efforts of the student body. It seems that every student could sell at least one season ticket.

From hither and yon we gather bits of interesting gossip that make yet more interesting copy. Coach Ed Morris, mentor of the aforementioned night baseball crew, is a former Naval aviator, having served in that branch of the service during the recent war. But Ed's career is by no means limited. He is a professional ball-player, one of the founders of a big storage company, an after-dinner speaker of genuine ability, and a real radio-actor. And in case you can't guess the name of the storage company of which Ed is president, just dig out your score card and gaze upon the full length ad; and by the way, Dan Borden, president of the General Alumni Association, is a director of the same company.

Rollo Rhinehart, campus broadcaster, turned his attention to other fields Thursday night as his sturdy voice echoed out of the ball park amplifiers.

Flag-raising bricks fly into Max Farrington and Larry Britts for the most god-awful exhibition of coaching that Griffith's sub-division has viewed in many moons. Otis Zahn poled a beautiful triple into deep center, and Coach Farrington sent him home after the ball had reached the infield. Zahn, ever-faithful, arrived home; but the ball was five yards ahead. Earlier in the game Larry allowed one of the better known performers to get caught napping on first base.

Freshman Net Team Beats Western High

The freshman tennis team defeated the net team of Western High School 4 to 3 in a tight match played Friday, April 28, at the Wardman Park courts. The Colonials took three of the singles but only one of the doubles. The play of Antignat was exceptionally smooth and consistent. Poretsky played with dash.

Summary: Antignat (G.W.), defeated Howell, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; Poretsky (G.W.), defeated Saunders, 6-4, 6-0; Langtry (G.W.), defeated Owens, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3; Doyle (Western), defeated Walker, 7-5, 6-2; Cochran (Western), defeated Allen, 6-4, 8-6; Howell and Doyle (Western), defeated Antignat and Walker, 6-4, 8-6; Langtry and Poretsky (G.W.), defeated Cochran and Robey, 6-1, 2-6, 7-5.

Racquetters Win Over Panther Courtmen 6 to 3

Four Singles, Two Doubles and a Default Result in Decisive Victory

Special to The Hatchet

Pittsburgh, Pa.—In a colorful, hard-fought meet held in the Smoky City Friday, the George Washington racquetters defeated the Pittsburgh Panthers, 6 to 3, winning four of six singles, and two of three doubles, one by default.

The slight advantage which the Colonials had when emerging from the singles was soon overcome in the first doubles match when O'Laughlin and Ganger decisively defeated the Sherry twins, Raphael and Lawrence, 6-2, 6-1. However, Robinson and Smith, composing George Washington's number 2 doubles team, came from behind after dropping their first set, 3-6, and in a smashing brilliant finish, succeeded in taking the next two sets, to triumph, 6-4, 6-2.

In the single contests, Robinson and Pierce rallied after dropping their first sets, to win their matches, respectively, 6-3, 6-3, and 6-4, 7-5.

The summary follows: In the singles O'Laughlin (Pitt) defeated R. Sherry, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3; L. Sherry (G.W.) defeated Ganger, 6-1, 6-4; Robinson (G.W.) defeated Slocum, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3; Smith (G.W.) defeated Gurin, 7-5, 6-1; Pierce (G.W.) defeated Slagel, 1-6, 6-4, 7-5; Volmar (Pitt) defeated Murayama, 6-2, 6-3. In the doubles, O'Laughlin and Ganger (Pitt) defeated R. Sherry and L. Sherry, 6-2, 6-1; Robinson and Smith defeated Smith and Gurin, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2; Pierce and Murayama defeated Slagel and Volmar by default.

Golfers Lose Twice; Beaten by Richmond And North Carolina

The Colonial bushmen dropped two matches over the week-end, being shut out by North Carolina 6-0 Thursday and losing to Richmond College Friday.

The Carolina Tarheelers completely outclassed the Colonials only as far as the final score was concerned. Although North Carolina took the best ball, decisively in both matches, the matches were all very close.

The summary of the North Carolina-George Washington match: Smith (N.C.) defeated McKee, 1 up; Layton (N.C.) defeated Coleman, 3-2; best ball—N. C., 5-0; Cramer (N.C.) defeated Knibley, 4-3; Bridgess (N.C.) defeated Nicholiski, 2-1; best ball—N. C., 3-0.

The Richmond-George Washington match was much closer contested, George Washington taking one match and one best ball.

Craig McKee, playing number 1 for George Washington defeated Billy Reeder 6-5, the first defeat in 13 inter-collegiate starts for Reeder.

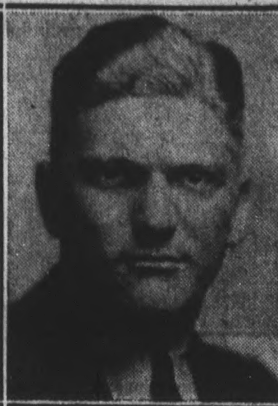

The summary of the Richmond-George Washington game follows: McKee (G.W.) defeated Reeder 6-5; Riegels (R.) Coleman, 3-2 best ball—George Washington, 4-3; Meredith (R.) defeated Knibley (G.W.), 5-4; Woods (R.) Columbia, 2-1; best ball—Richmond, 4-3.

Senior Council Plans Class Night Program

Baccalaureate services at the Washington Cathedral, with Bishop Freeman delivering the sermon, and the participation by the University band in Senior Class Night exercises, are included in tentative graduation arrangements to be made by the Senior Council. The baccalaureate sermons of other years have been given in downtown churches.

To supplement the work of the University band on Class Night some orchestra from outside the University will be chosen. An usher for the class Night entertainment will be selected from the Junior Class.

Made Manager

Bernard Fagelson Appointed Senior Manager of Athletics for 1933-34

The appointment of Bernard Fagelson as senior manager of athletics for next year is the crowning achievement in a long series of managerships held by Fagelson in the last three years at George Washington.

Fagelson's first assignment as a manager came in his freshman year when he was appointed freshman manager of football. The next year he moved up in the system, becoming a sophomore manager, and as such directed the freshman football team. This year he filled the important and difficult post of varsity manager of football.

In addition to his work in the athletic department, Fagelson is also treasurer of the Junior class and regional secretary of his social fraternity, Phi Alpha.

Juniors Now Lead League With Defeat Of Engineers' Nine

Nolan Stars in Upset; Pre-Medics Crush Columbian in Slugging Orgy

Engineers	3	1
Pre-med	1	1
Columbian	1	2
Pharmacy	0	4

Coming from behind, Junior College downed the strong Engineer nine 6-5 and assumed the intramural baseball leadership. In the other two games played this week, the Pre-Medics overwhelmed Columbian 19-4 and the Engineers came back to crush the hapless Pharmacists 22-1.

"Paddy" Nolan, the pugnacious Irish twirler for the Juniors, was the star of the upset over the Engineers. He strengthened after a shaky first two innings and blanked the Engineers for the last five frames, giving up a solitary bingle. He also connected for two hits.

Meanwhile his mates kept packing away at Sherry's lead. The Engineer hurler kept his hits well scattered and would have emerged with the decision but for erratic support which kept him in trouble constantly and led directly to three enemy runs.

Entering the sixth two runs behind, Junior College went to work, and a hit batsman, a double, and Bernfield's triple meant two runs and the game.

The Columbian-Pre-med game featured plenty of heavy clouting by the Pre-Medics and a parade of Columbian pitchers. In vain the Columbians used four twirlers to halt the slugging, as Bradford, Hertzler, and even Kriemelmeyer were knocked from the mound.

Max Jeweler, the chunky Pre-med pitcher, stopped the husky Columbians without much trouble and contributed a double and a home run to his cause. His battery mate, Seigle, also banged out a four-bagger along with two other hits.

Lucy Bradford was the first casualty of the season when he fractured his wrist in diving for a ground ball.

The Engineer-Pharmacy fracas could hardly be called a contest. Hetzel, Trantham and Sherry, all pitching for the Engineers, allowed the light-hitting Pharmacists only two hits, one of them a home run by George, while the Engineers put together 12 hits, seven walks and nine errors for their 22-run total.

Sherry of the Engineers earned the batting honors for the week with seven singles out of nine times at bat.

Baseballers Divide Two Night Games With Delaware U.

Drop First, 12-2; Recover to Take Second From Blue Hens, 15-4

By ROBERT P. HERZOG

Disasteful defeat and glorious victory joined hands in the opening of the baseball series as the Colonials split even in a two-game meeting with the Delaware University sluggers. Dropping the first tilt, 12-2, the Buff and Blue nine returned Friday night to overtake the representatives of the Hen State, 15-4.

In the opening game after the Shrine patrols had completed a snappy drill program, Commissioner Luther Reichelderfer tossed the first ball out. Promptly at 7 p. m. the Almas Temple drum corps opened the festivities and at 8 p. m. the first batter stepped into place.

For four rounds the diamonders kept the game moving at a fast pace, running neck and neck. Bill Noonan started the game in the pitchers' box, but the heart-rending early periods sent him to the showers in the sixth and left room for Tuffy Leemans to enter the fray. Leemans put forth a rare exhibition of wildness, but lasted until two-thirds of the final stanza had passed. At that point Jimmy Howell was called upon to retire the side.

It was a real "Comedy of Errors," for the two teams contributed eight misses to the Roman holiday. Lefty Riley pitching ace for the visitors, vied with Otis Zahn, local initial sacker, for individual honors of the occasion.

The next evening, following five rounds of boxing put on by the District of Columbia A. A. U., the revamped Morris nine trounced the Northerners. Bill Albert came through with a home run in the field and pushed in two runs before he crossed the plate in the sixth inning. Johnny Fenlon faced the visiting pitching on five trips, batted out four hits, and scored five counters for the home town lads.

"Heinie" Weingartner, local slab star, held the visitors to four hits, while the Colonial batmen were swatting the apple for 12 safeties and sending two pitchers to the showers.

Interfrat Baseball Nears Climax With Three-Team Battle

Sherry, Sherrill, Sparkle on Mound; Baldwin's Homer Helps Sigma Mu Sigma

Phi Sigma Kappa continues to lead in League A, while a three-way tie exists in League B, in the interfraternity baseball series as the curtain draws high upon the schedule.

The crucial game between Phi Sig and S. A. E. was a closely contested match with the rival pitchers, Monroe and Sherry, dominating the play. Sherry, granting only three hits, was a victim of poor support, errors bringing about his downfall. Parker, starting Phi Sig pitcher, was blasted early with a homer by DeWeiss. Monroe, who relieved him, kept the opposition's hits scattered to earn the decision.

Score by innings:

S. A. E. 200 000 0-2

P. S. K. 101 001 1-3

S. P. E. Sigma Nus End in Tie

S. P. E. and Sigma Mu Sigma, co-leaders in League B, fought to a 5-5 extra-inning deadlock, time not permitting further struggle. An unfortunate accident dampened the Sig Ep hopes when Sherrill hurt his arm in the fourth inning after a brilliant bit of twirling which accounted for eight strikeouts. Hoffman, his opponent, hit a homer, triple, and single for batting honors. Baldwin's homer, bringing in Johnson, tied up the game for Sigma Mu in the seventh, and neither scored in the extra inning.

Score by innings:

S. M. S. 010 101 20-5

S. P. E. 003 000 20-5

Delta Outslug K. A.'s

An old-time slugging match was indulged in by the Deltas and K. A.'s, with the former victorious 18-12 in an extra-inning game. Both teams accumulated enough hits and errors to tie at the regulation game end, then a six-run spurge by the Deltas put the game on ice.

Score by innings:

D. T. D. 203 241 06-18

K. A. 072 120 00-12

Kappa Sig beat back a last-inning revolt by Sigma Chi to emerge the winner by 10-8. A steady tattoo was played on both MacGregor and Johnston, with the former more steady in the pinches. Garber's homer with two on was responsible for the last-inning Sig score.

Score by innings:

K. S. 210 232 0-10

S. X. 120 200 3-8

Sigma Nu kept in a second-place tie by beating T. U. O. 5-4 in a close battle. The lead changed several times, with Sigma Nu pushing the winning score over in the last inning.

Score by innings:

S. N. 200 101 1-5

T. U. O. 102 001 0-4

Colonials Engage Strong Opponents

Wake Forest and West Virginia Expected to Give Locals Hard Fight

Undertaking one of the toughest assignments of the season, the Colonial nine faces the Wake Forest crew Wednesday night and the University of West Virginia forces Thursday and Friday nights at Griffith Stadium.

Wake Forest has one of the best college teams in the South this year. Their season record so far finds them chalked up with seven wins and no losses, having won games from such strong opponents as Duke, North Carolina University, and North Carolina State. In their win from Duke, Southern Conference champions of last year, Wake Forest displayed an amazing power both in the field and at bat, and the Colonials will find them to be one of the strongest teams that they will meet the whole year. The boys from the wilds of North Carolina will prove a real test for the Buff and Blue.

Although they have dropped two games within the last week, this does not greatly mar the record of the West Virginia aggregation, for in Georgetown and Navy they met opponents worthy of defeating many college nines in the East and South. The Colonials will have to hustle to mark up wins from the West Virginia Mountaineers.

The games of last week showed that the Colonials lack just a little something in the pitching staff, but with the four-day lay-off, the five slabs have an opportunity to give their sore arms a rest, and are due to stage a strong comeback. A win from either Wake Forest or West Virginia would be a fine feather in the Morrismen's cap, and fans may expect a real show of spirit from the local diamonders this week.

Coach Morris' men are slowly rounding into shape, and with a little more experience under the arcs, they should have a crew of no mean ability. The lights seemed a little confusing for the men last week, but with the added practice of this week, and as they grow more accustomed to playing under the glare, the boys should be in a rare fettle by Wednesday night.

All three games are scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, and everyone is urged to come out and support the team against their opponents. Be there!

Dean Wilbur Opens O. D. K. Faculty Game

Dean Wilbur will toss out the first ball May 13 as Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities fraternity, and the Faculty meet in their famous annual baseball tilt. Henry William (Bucky) Herzog starts at the mound for the fraters. Faculty officials have not given any indication of their line-up.

Herzog, pitching for the students last year, defeated John A. Tillema, of the University faculty, in a hard-fought contest. This year the game is to be part of the Wilbur Day celebration planned by the Junior Class. The game will begin at 3:30 p. m. on the Reservoir Ball Diamond at Sixteenth and Kennedy streets northwest.

Faculty-O. D. K. games have been features of the University calendar for many years. Scheduling the game in conjunction with the first annual Junior Class, Dean Wilbur Day is expected to lend prestige and valued publicity to both events.

After College WHAT?

LAW?

Former Federal Judge Edwin L. Garvin says: "A keen mind, sound judgment and unflagging industry are required to digest the volumes of laws and decisions facing the practitioner today. The young lawyer can no longer practice by ear and intuition. The science of the law is exacting and difficult."

ONLY "a keen mind" can absorb the volumes of information which must be at the finger tips of the young lawyer today. Perhaps that's why in this profession, as in our leading colleges, a pipe is the favorite smoke. You see, it helps a man concentrate... clears cobwebs from his brain.

Try a pipeful of Edgeworth Smoking Tobacco—the favorite smoke among college men. *Notice how that blend of fine old burleys really helps you think out a difficult problem.

BEAUTY WHILE MOTORING

It's a grand and glorious feeling to be speeding like the wind through a fresh, spring countryside. If you are lucky enough to know a boy with a car, or drive yourself, that is. But if the face that greets you at the end of the journey—when you should really look your best—is weatherbeaten, red and roughened, as well as actually grimy, then you might rather be the clinging vine type and wear a thick veil when you leave your own little room.

You can have cake and eat it, too, if you know how. At least, in beauty you can have your fun out-of-doors and still look fresh and rested. Here's the way:

First, of course, allow yourself about fifteen minutes before the date. Then, cleanse your skin thoroughly with a good pasteurized cream—not a wash, for you expect to go out, and you don't want to invite chapped skin. Then remove the cream thoroughly, and pour a little skin toning lotion on a pad of cotton. Pat this over your face, using as much as necessary. Then blot your face with cleansing tissues and use a weatherproof foundation cream. Smooth it on. This is a trick sophisticated women always use—applying a weatherproof foundation cream when the skin is to be exposed to wind and sun. It is a perfect, protective finish.

When you are ready for makeup, use a rouge en creme. Powder rouge will not last as long—the other stays by you. Then, with a powder puff just full of powder, go over your entire face, pressing the puff against your skin firmly. Lastly, brush off the surplus powder and apply your lipstick. You will find that this makeup will last for many miles without renewing, and keep you looking your loveliest.

Dim Lights, Liltng Music, Feminine Ruffles Highlights at Panhel Prom

Sorority Women Display Latest Models in Evening Wear at Annual Ball

The ladies swished their organdy ruffles, the lights dimmed, the fiddlers struck up a liltng tune, the floor slowly filled with awaying dancers, and the prom was on. In the softly lighted ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel, we were captured by the spell of an early spring evening.

For this gala night, white was smart—especially white organdy. Margaret Liebler was lovely in white organdy with huge ruffled sleeves, while Jo Atwell looked suave and sophisticated in a classic white flat crepe, enhanced by white and mauve orchids. Elizabeth Orth was smart in a severe white crepe, with a jacket whose only decoration was huge beads and a row of buttons marching down the back. White organdy with black polka dots and a tricky black belt made Katherine Dille look very chic. Louise Linkins made Johnny Everett's young heart flutter in a bouffant white organdy with a simplicity white sash.

Black that was so thin that it looked as if it would blow away made Platonis Pappas look even more charming than usual. Her wrist wore two coral Talisman roses added a touch of color. Jane Edwards and Ruth McNary were two demure little school girls in bright red and white checks, with naughty, low backs. Helen Sherfey chose black and white pique for this important evening. Pique and linen, by the way, are going to be quite the thing for summer evening wear. Also, mousseline, in which Jean Lilly, who was one of the most attractively dressed girls present, was attired. She wore the popular black and white, which was enlivened by red flowers and shoes. Betty Wurdeman in a candy-striped mousseline of gray and yellow was the essence of summer.

A cloud of yellow and brown chiffon fluttered on the floor and there was Betsy Garrett, who reminded us of a big butterfly. Anita Watson was cool and summery looking in a sea blue and white print with stiff embroidered sleeves. Ruth Warren wore white flat crepe with an azure blue jacket with a muff.

And not to be outdone by the girls in their airy new frocks, several of the men—Trimble Sawtelle, Don Bowers and Charlie Touchton—wore Palm Beach tuxedos. They gave an added filip to a very smart affair.

Wandering out on the terrace with its striped umbrellas, we made a last wish to the many stars while the last faint strains of music floated off into the night.

If you like the look of housemaids, bellhops, t m h bellhops, trained nurses, New Orleans belles, Pullman porters, midshipmen, and the clean sound of words like chambray, percale, dimity, batiste, duck, organdie, calico, and lawn, you will like the new summer gowns. You can put on a fresh frock every morning just as you did as a child and another at 5 o'clock for tea. You can have muslin evening dresses with which you will wear your most brilliant jewelry, bon bon pink pique pea-jackets over pink pique evening dresses—materials so fine you could draw them through a ring, cottons as cool and stiff as the British navy, and all of them can go right into the tub.

A white or checked linen suit should head your list of necessities. It can go any place from church to Jack's place or Michel, and with a couple of changes of accessories you'll live in it. For either town or beach a black linen is indispensable. With white pique bellhop jacket and shoes and a white pique hat with a brim that buttons on you will be smart and cool for shopping and lunch in town—you might add a wild orange cravat. This outfit will be more and more becoming as the season and your suntan progress. Another costume that you can vary with your mood by changing your accessories is laid around a white linen dress. With it you can wear a bright blue dotted tie—silk jacket and hat to match, alternate this with a striped linen jacket, or twist a scarf through the straps of your dress in various ways. A summer coat of natural linen, double-breasted, with tiny turnover collar and

Fraternity Debaters End Second Round

Semi-finals to Be Held Next Thursday in Corcoran, Stockton Halls

In the second round of intramural debates held last Tuesday in Corcoran Hall, Theta Delta Chi, Phi Alpha, Zeta Tau Alpha, Kappa Delta, and Sigma Kappa were adjudged winners.

In order of the schedule followed, the fraternity results were: Theta Delta Chi, negative, defeated Phi Sigma Kappa, affirmative; Phi Alpha, negative, won over Kappa Sigma, affirmative.

In the sorority round: Zeta Tau Alpha, affirmative, defeated Kappa Kappa Gamma, negative; Kappa Delta, negative, defeated Delta Zeta, affirmative; Sigma Kappa, affirmative, defeated Phi Sigma Sigma, negative.

Semi-finals will take place on Thursday, May 4. All debaters are to meet in Corcoran 15, promptly at 8:15. The following schedule will hold:

Fraternities: Acacia, affirmative, Theta Delta Chi, negative. Phi Alpha drew a bye for this debate and will meet the winners in the finals of the following week.

Sororities: Sigma Kappa, affirmative, Zeta Tau Alpha, negative. Kappa Delta also drew a bye for this debate and will meet the winners for the finals of the following week.

Judges for the Tuesday round were: Professors Raymond J. Seegar, Daniel H. Buchanan, John A. Tillema, Miss Helen Newman, and Miss Genevieve Wimsatt.

Eighty Attend First Celebration of Home Economics Students

Eighty persons, members of the Home Economics Club and their guests, attended a dinner given in the home economics building, Thursday evening in celebration of the first birthday of the organization. The color scheme of the dinner was red and white and this was carried out in the food as well as in the decorations. The centerpieces for the tables consisted of white tulips and red candles. The dinner was prepared by the lunchroom management class.

Following the dinner an informal gathering was held at Lambie House with Mildred Omwake in charge of the entertainment. Miss Frances Kirkpatrick congratulated the club upon its first birthday and presented it with a birthday cake. Miss Kathryn Towne and Miss Gladys Haldeman were also on the list of speakers. Mary Spangler, as president of this club, welcomed the members and their guests, and Mildred Omwake spoke on behalf of Alpha Pi Epsilon.

Tea Service Presented
On behalf of the club Mary Spangler presented to the home economics department a silver tea service. Miss Kirkpatrick responded for the department. Miss Katherine Trambarger entertained with a sketch entitled "The Spirit of Old Home Etc." which was written by Henrietta Hobson. Henrietta Hobson and Anne Byrne appeared as Mickey and Minnie Mouse in an original sketch.

FROU FROU

Frightfully becoming Gibson Girl sleeves, is neat and practical. Or perhaps you'd prefer a swaggy white linen coat, coolie in cut, with shortish sleeves—or even a white honeycomb cotton with big puffy sleeves and huge lapels. A white pique coat is exceedingly practical because it can be worn with a printed silk daytime frock or over your organdie evening gown.

You'll need dozens of tennis dresses of starched pique—short and plaited or with divided skirts. For golf, striped tub silk, shantung, or linen with a hand-knitted sweater is just the thing. A brand new note is struck in swimming suits edged with white linen or pique.

Hats are of pique or linen for dress and sport. Shoes are of pique and linen—evening sandals, too. And you'll love the plaid gingham sandals and white herringbone linen pumps.

Purses are of linen and pique or leather that you can scrub. And, of course, you'll have pique gloves to match the rainbow, and chiffon or organdie gloves to match your evening gowns.

You see that white figures large in the color scheme, but do have lots of yellow; and blue looks swell with a sun tan.

The charm of the new frocks and what-nots is that they can all be tubed—and clever is the little lady who buys with that in mind.

Women's Sports Managers Will Be Elected Thursday

The election of managers of women's hockey, soccer, volley ball, basketball, and rifle will be held next Thursday, May 4, at 12 noon, in Building R. All women who have participated in these sports are eligible to vote and are urged by Gretchen Feiker, president of the Women's Athletic Association, to attend this meeting.

These managers will assume their positions on the executive board of the W. A. A. immediately upon their election and will work with the managers until the end of the current year. In the fall they will assume their active duty as sports managers.

WHO'S WHO On The Campus

Evelyn "Ivy" Iverson is the newly-elected president of the senior class of Columbian College. She will officiate as chairman of the next Senior Class Night.

Coming from Central High School four years ago, Evelyn at once launched upon her outstanding work in activities. As a freshman she served on the staffs of The Hatchet and Cherry Tree, and won membership in Troubadours, Modern Poetry Club, and W. A. A.

Two years on the organization staff of Cherry Tree culminated in her election to the board. She became assistant office manager of The Hatchet. Drama Appreciation Club, which she helped to found, made her its first president.

Outside of school Evelyn is vice president of the Utah State Society in Washington, and a member of the League of Women Voters.

She is now a member of Hour Glass, honorary scholarship and general activities sorority, and Gamma Eta Zeta, honorary journalistic sorority. Her social fraternity is Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Council Advocates Lower Tuition Fee

Unanimous Vote on Haley Resolution Sends Petition to President Marvin

The Student Council, at its regular meeting last Wednesday, voted unanimously to petition President Marvin to lower tuition fees for the summer session and for the next school year. James Haley offered a resolution, stating he presented it at the request of a number of students.

The resolution reads as follows: "WHEREAS, practically every student of The George Washington University has suffered financial losses during the last year either through reduced incomes, reduced allowances or reduced holdings, and

"WHEREAS, as the result of this it will be necessary for many students to decrease their schedules or discontinue college entirely unless fees of the University be lowered.

"BE IT RESOLVED, That the Student Council of The George Washington University transmit a communication to the President of the University asking that consideration be given a reduction in fees for the summer session 1933 and the 1933-34 school year."

Dorothy Niess, secretary of the Council, has forwarded the resolution to President Marvin for consideration. No announcement has been made by the President's office.

The Council denied a petition of a group of students to form a club to be known as "The Epicureans." The purpose of the club was to create better fellowship among the students of the University.

Beatrice Hegg Wins Summer Scholarship

European Trip, Study at Several Universities Constitute Award

Beatrice Hegg, a student in the School of Government, has been named as the winner of a European travel scholarship offered by the Overseas Educational Institute.

The scholarship covers all expenses of a summer trip to leading universities in Europe with privilege of sight-seeing and excursions to other points of interest. Among the universities which Miss Hegg will visit and attend are the University of Bonn, Germany; the Sorbonne at Paris, and Cambridge and Oxford in England.

Award of the scholarship was made by the Overseas Educational Institute after nation-wide competition by candidates from the leading schools and universities of this country.

Miss Hegg is one of five college students who have survived eliminations in another competition conducted by the Institute for a winter scholarship, which gives the winners a full school year at the University of Grenoble. No announcement has yet been made of the number of full-year scholarships which will be awarded.

Miss Hegg's home is in Bruce, S. D. She graduated from the Arlington Hall School for Girls last June, transferring to George Washington University in the fall. Her social sorority is Chi Omega.

annual, the pictures of the winners caused considerable excitement after the many months of speculation as to the outcome.

The contests, which were judged by Ronald Colman and Janet Gaynor through the courtesy of United Artists and Fox Pictures, were based entirely on the merits of the photographs submitted. Over 800 pictures were inspected by a committee of the Cherry Tree board in conjunction with the photographer before a limited number were selected to accompany those entered by individual groups which had complied with the requirements of the contest. These photographs were then in turn sent to Mr. Colman and Miss Gaynor for their selections.

Trio badours, George Washington's musical comedy organization, want to secure books and music for next year's production. Anyone interested in submitting such material should communicate with Dan Beattie at 1714 Rhode Island avenue.

University Adopts First Official Ring

For the first time in the history of the institution, George Washington University now has an official ring. The adoption of a standard ring by the Student Council came as a result of a comparative study of a number of samples and designs submitted to the jewelry committees of the last two councils.

In order that students might get the best possible ring at minimum cost, the manufacturers have agreed to cooperate with the council committee in selling the rings direct to the students. Rings may be ordered through C. Manley Fesler, official representative, or James Haley, chairman of the present council committee.

For convenience of students who are interested in seeing the rings, arrangements have been made to have Alston Davis, factory representative, present at the University on Wednesday and Thursday of this week with a full display of finishes and stones. He will be in the Hatchet office from 3 to 5 p. m. and 6 to 7:30 p. m. each day and will take measurements and orders for immediate delivery.

Nation Editor Will Speak To Liberal Club Tomorrow

Mauritz Hallgreen, associate editor of The Nation, former Berlin correspondent, covering Washington for The Nation, will be the principal speaker before the Liberal Club tomorrow night at 8 p. m. in Corcoran 10.

Mr. Hallgreen, an internationally known speaker and writer upon current affairs, will discuss the present international situation with particular emphasis upon the probabilities of "that next war."

Something to Say

—not just saying something

A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say":

"I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click... I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.'"

Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy."
